Customer Reviews

Basically a giant keep with walls and towers forming a square, this combines towers and features from all over the early stages of castle building, including partial hordings (castles do have their own jargon). And the drawbridge works! If you want to keep this one around or move it much, glue the groundplates to cardboard or matboard.

Wow! This was a real fun thing to do! If you like to take your time doing things. This is mainly for 1 person, but you could do it with the whole family! A real drawbridge, flags, and a lot of little people to play in the castle. It was so fun.

In the creation of a diorama for my 54mm soldiers I wanted a castle backdrop which wouldn't take up much room. The cutout castle fit my needs to perfection. The construction was easy and the finished product was exactly what I needed.
